HONGKONG, FEBRUART 9TH 1485.

The author of the pumphlet on "The Defences of Hongkong! has done good service in directing public attention more closely to the question of the fortification of this Colony. He expects his statements to be questioned and criticised, and many of them are open to criticism, as Major LLOYD has already shown, but the pumphleteer has inadesome suggestions which are well worthy of consideration and will, we hope, not re-engraved in a superior style and brought up lost sight of. It is admitted by all that Hongkong should be fortified, but there are differences of opinion as to the manner in which this should be accomplished. "It seems to us that we have to do the best we can for the money that has been voted for the purpose, and to supplement the fortifies tions by a judicious use of the Wivers and the torpeda boats. The latter ought to baincreased in number. In addition there are the Esk and Tweed, which would also be availlable for harbour defence. The pumph leteer contends, firstly, that a deservated fort, full Chronology of remarkable events since which could not be carried by a coup, de main, should be constructed in the Ly-eamoon Pass, and that this work, if aided by a ismail corps of torpedoists, would render the channel impassable to any fleet. He urges that the forts at North Point and Hung Hata are not only useless but dangerous, as the formeris commanded from "hundreds of points," and the latter would draw upon the changes. The reverend gentleman, is we be- Australia, and China Docks the fire of an enemy. Major LLOYD, lieve, the only Protestant missionary in China however, in his letter of Saturday, states that who has remained at his post for the long casemated forts are so expensive that one period of forty years. His sympathics have come into operation, also tables of COURT such work would nearly absorb the entire always been ardently enlisted in his work, contribution of the Colony, while they are not so impregnable as is commonly supposed. He also points out that in a casemated fort the gaus are massed together, and cannot be worked so effectively as where they are scattered and their fire can be converged. Major Lloyn admits, however, that there to enumerate in an Advertisement, but include— should be a powerful fort at the entrance of the Ly-ee-moon Pass, and this, we have every reason to believe—it being part of the scheme will be provided. It would be sheer folly to rely upon the North Point and Hung Ham get so far in as to attack those defences. the docks and town would be sure to suffer "usefulness and honour" he has been perof the contest. The proposal of the pamphleteer that a fort should be erected on Green Island'is a good one enough, but we must contemporaries as residents out agree with Major Lroyd that it would not be anfe torely on this alone to defend the western in Canton some ten years before, and entrance to the harbour. It must not be for Dr. HANCE, who arrived a month or gotten that there are three channels giving two later, than Dr. Harran. The latter entrance to the harbour from the westward. gentleman has lived in Canton four enough could not be defended in any degree from Green an effort to tear himself away even to visit dominates both these latter passages, it is of air and scene will entirely renovate Dr. manifest that defence works there are indis. Happen's health and strength, and hope that the report brought the Police quickly on the Yamen Ministers invited all the representatives pensable. It is true that this fort would be may thoroughly enjoy the rest be has so scene, but the rascals had made good their need to be provisioned and supplied, well earned by two score years of work. but this could readily be done, and as for its being exposed to capture by a coup de Customs and Harbour Regulations for the dif- main, that must be provided against both by making it as impregnable as possible. and by arming it with machine guns and supplying a strong garrison to work them. To rely upon a single fort on Green Island only to defend the western channels to the harbour would be exceedingly risky. A for the armament to be employed in the forts, there cannot be two opinions on the subject. The guns should be of the best and most modern construction obtainable other defences. We have always thought the south side of the island ought to have some protection, as there can be no question that, if a landing February, owing to the unfavourable weather for were at any time attempted by an enemy it would be there. The author of the pamphiet justly says that, in the absence of the Legislative Council at a recent meeting was fleet, the island is defenceless on its southern side. Yet we cannot quite agree with him when he says that five hundred men landed in any of the bays between Mount military promenade through the island." Melbourne & Brisbano. They would probably be stopped at an early stage of their journey, in a difficult pass, by a body of infantry and artillery provided with SAN FRAN'CO. Mr. L. P. Fisher; 21, Merchants' mountain guns, and sent with diminished yanks hastily back to their boats. What they might do, however, would be to give manner.

At the same time guns of different calibre are required for different purposes. We believe it is in contemplation to have a float ing battery placed on Kellett's Bank, and this would prove a valuable addition to the land and blow up the docks at Aberdeen, destroy the reservoir at Pokfulum, and occupy Aberdeen with its useful little barbour. We endorse the opinion of the pamphleteer that there should be a fort somewhere near Aberdeen, perhaps on Tree Island, and we are also disposed to think that a few guns mounted near the Gap might be a useful precaution against an attempt at surprise in that direction. It is to be re. gretted that Major LLoyn refrained from expressing any opinion as to the importance of some defence for the south of the island. We sincerely hope this har not been omitted from the scheme of defence altogether. We should also like to know whether it will be possible to train some of the guns of the Belcher's Point Battery so as to command the Pokfulum Road, as at present there is nothing to hinder the march into town of a landing party along that road from Aberleen. All the batteries that are exposed to attack should, we think, be provided with machine guns. To man the various fortifications of which the battery by the officers' quarters at Kowloon is practically useless, and need not be considered—at least another battery of Artillery will be required, and possibly a Correspondents are requested to forward their name | regiment of Indian troops. The British Government have at length become alive to the value of Hongkong as a strategic point and a great centre of trade in the Far East, tion, provided he is not the actual perpetrator and it is to be hoped that when placing the Advertisements and Subscriptions which are not Colony in a position to defend itself against an enemy they will not, by any parsimony, fads, or folly, allow the work to be rendered ineffective. As it is the Ultima Thule of the far-reaching British Empire, as it is the key to-supremacy in Eastern waters, as it is the focus of British trade in China and Japan, and a place the less of which would deal a deadly blow at Britain's power affinet, a few tons of the total export of tes from that port, to Great thousands of pounds ought not to be considered by the Imperial Government. We are not asking for this expenditure for the mere protection of local interests—large as those are-but for the maintenance of the national power and prastige, for the preservation of a wast trade in which the whole of the United Kingdom is deeply interested. THE departure for America to-morrow. the Roy. A. P. HAPPER, D.D., of Canton, is worthy of passing note, not only because of the reverend gentleman's attainments and his labours as a missionary, but also on account of his lengthened residence in China Dr. HAPPER is a link with the past, one of the old landmarks, so to speak, which connect the rise of Hongkong with the former history of foreign residence with Canton. He arrived in China on the 22nd October, 1844, a year and a half after the appointment of the first Governor of Hongkong, Sir ly imported. The same paper says the Antenor HERET POTTINGER. At that time Canton was the only port in China at which any foreign trade existed, and Hongkong was then an infant settlement, having only a few scattered houses. Dr. Harres has seen those straggling houses connected and grow into a continuous chain some four miles in lougth along the shores of the island; he has seen is published in the Gazette:the trade of the port grow to its present huge proportions, has witnessed all'its mutations, and marked its steady rise through all and he has been content to stick to it while health and strength continued.
